

Theater in Early Modern Switzerland*, Estelle Doudet (ed)
Table of Contents

Estelle Doudet

When Switzerland and Theatre Did Not Exist. Reassessing a Problematic Object.

PART I A Swiss History of Theatre? Historians and Historiographical Narratives in the 20th century

Alain Corbellari

Paul Aebischer (1887-1977). Historian and Archaeologist of the Medieval Theater in French-speaking Switzerland

Heidy Greco-Kaufmann

Oskar Eberle (1902-1956). Research on Medieval and Early Modern Swiss-German Theater History in Politically Charged Times

PART II Compare, Connect. Approaches to A Multilingual Dramatic Landscape

Carlotta Posth

Deadly Illness in Bern and Neuchâtel. Considerations on an Influential Metaphor in Niklaus Manuel's Krankheit und Testament der Messe and Mathieu Malingre's Maladie de Chrétienté

Estelle Doudet

Found in Translation. Investigating a Connected Approach to 'Swiss' Farces and Moralités in the 16th Century.

PART III Performing Religious and Local Identities in Catholic and Reformed Regions

Clemens Schlip

Swiss Catholic Identity Building in the Plays of Jacob Gretser S. J.

Elke Huwiler

Confessional aspects in the Saint Plays of Sarnen and Zug from 1600 to 1630

Cora Dietl

A Protestant martyrs' play from Zurich: Christoph Murer's Edessana Ecclesia

Charlotte Bouteille

Genevan 'Patriotic' Theatre: The Case of the Trage-comédie de l'Escalade (1605?)

Part IV School Performances. A Swiss Specificity?

Glenn Ehrstine

Terence in School Ordinances as a Dividing Line between Protestant Theater Practices in the Holy Roman Empire and the Helvetian Confederacy

Guðrún Kristinsdóttir-Urfalino

The Tragédie nouvelle appelée Pompée and the Intellectual Milieu around the Academy of Lausanne in the 16th century

Notes on Contributors

References

Index of names

Index of titles