

Building Europe with the Ball

Turning Points in the Europeanization of Football,
1905–1995

Philippe Vonnard, Grégory Quin
and Nicolas Bancel (eds)

Peter Lang

Bibliographic information published by Die Deutsche Nationalbibliothek
Die Deutsche Nationalbibliothek lists this publication in the Deutsche Nationalbibliografie; detailed bibliographic data is available on the Internet at <http://dnb.d-nb.de>.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Control Number: 2016940417

Cover image: UEFA Official Bulletin, Number 6, November 1957.

ISSN 1664-1906

ISBN 978-3-0343-1983-6 (print)

ISBN 978-3-0353-0829-7 (eBook)

© Peter Lang AG, International Academic Publishers, Bern 2016
Hochfeldstrasse 32, CH-3012 Bern, Switzerland
info@peterlang.com, www.peterlang.com, www.peterlang.net

All rights reserved.

All parts of this publication are protected by copyright.

Any utilisation outside the strict limits of the copyright law, without the permission of the publisher, is forbidden and liable to prosecution.

This applies in particular to reproductions, translations, microfilming, and storage and processing in electronic retrieval systems.

This publication has been peer reviewed.

Printed in Germany

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
NICOLAS BANCEL, GRÉGORY QUIN AND PHILIPPE VONNARD
Introduction: Studying the Europeanization of Football in Historical Perspective	I
PART I The First Europeanization: A Pre-European Football Sphere (1910s to the 1940s)
19
PAUL DIETSCHY
1 Football during the Belle Époque : The First 'Europe of football' (1903–1914)	21
GRÉGORY QUIN
2 Central Europe Rules European Football: The 'Golden Age' of Regional Connections in European Football (1926–1938)	53
MATTHEW TAYLOR
3 English Football and 'the Continent' Reconsidered (1919–1960)	75
PART II The Second Europeanization: A European Turning Point (1930s to the 1960s)
99
NICOLA SBETTI
4 The Quest for Legitimacy: The Road to Redemption for Italian Football in Europe after the Second World War (1943–1949)	101
XAVIER BREUIL
5 Football and the Construction of a European Area in the East: Ruptures and Continuities after 1945	121

KEVIN TALLEC MARSTON
6 'Sincere Camaraderie': Professionalization, Politics and the Pursuit of the European Idea at the International Youth Tournament (1948–1957)	137
PART III The Third Europeanization: The New Stakes of European Football (1950s to the 1990s)
PHILIPPE VONNARD
7 How did UEFA Govern the European Turning Point in Football? UEFA, the European Champion Clubs' Cup and the Inter-Cities Fairs Cup Projects (1954–1959)	165
MANUEL SCHOTTÉ
8 'To live well is to live concealed': Confined Relations between UEFA and the European Community in the 1970s and 1980s	187
JÉRÔME BERTHOUD AND STANISLAS FRENKIEL
9 The African Turning Point in European Football: Immigration Experiences of Cameroonian and Algerian Footballers in France during the 1980s	201
YOHAN ARIFFIN
Afterword. Sport and Global Politics: Still an Unchartered Territory?	223
Bibliography	231
List of Contributors	245
Index	247

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank Etty Payne and Shani D'Cruze for their quick translations, comments and corrections. We also thank the Swiss National Science Foundation (FNS), the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences of the University of Lausanne and the Institute for Sport Sciences of the University of Lausanne (ISSUL) for their financial support.

SPORT, HISTORY AND CULTURE

Since 1990, football history has become increasingly important within the field of sport science, yet few studies have centred on the Europeanization of the game from the interwar period onwards. This period saw the creation of a sovereign institution dedicated to European football, the establishment of specific rules about players' transfers and contracts and, in particular, the development of competitions.

This book examines the development of European football between 1905 and 1995 from a transnational perspective. It offers a space for discussion to both early-career and established historians from a range of different countries, leading to a better understanding of the crucial turning points in the Europeanization of the game. The volume aims to promote valuable new reflections on the role of football in the European integration process.

Philippe Vonnard is a PhD student at the Institute of Sport Sciences at the University of Lausanne. He has published several articles about the development of European football from the 1920s to the 1970s.

Grégory Quin is Senior Lecturer at the Institute of Sport Sciences at the University of Lausanne. He has published many articles on Swiss and European sports history and has been awarded a UEFA Research Grant to support his work.

Nicolas Bancel is Professor of Sport History and Director of the Institute of Sport Sciences at the University of Lausanne. He is a specialist in postcolonial and transnational approaches to sport and is the author of several books and many articles.

www.peterlang.com

ISBN 978-3-0343-1983-6

9 783034 319836